WORLD RECORDS

Tallest Twin Towers

Although no longer the tallest towers in the world, the 88-storey Petronas Twin Towers still stand as the worlds tallest twin towers at 451.9 metres or 1,482.6 feet.

Worlds Second Tallest Building

The recently inaugurated megatall PNB 118 stands at an impressive 678.9 metres or 2,227 feet and ranks second only to the Burj Khalifa in Dubai. It houses a shopping complex, housing properties, hotel, observation deck, public park and offices.

Highest Mountain Top Trail

Those with a head for heights and ample endurance will relish the challenge posed by the worlds highest mountain top trail. Located on Mount Kinabalu, South East Asia's fifth tallest mountain, the trail lies at a breath taking 4,095 metres or 13,435 feet above sea level.

Largest flower

The extremely pungent smell the worlds largest flower exudes is intended to attract the bluebottle carrion fly in the fastest possible time given the Rafflesia's relative short life span of 4 to 5 days. This parasitic bloom is also known as the 'corpse flower' for obvious reasons and obtains all of its nutrients from its host plant.

Malaysia Truly A Golfing Paradise

Malaysia must be one of the most golf obsessed nations in the world, given the number of very excellent and challenging golf courses throughout the country. And the fact that golf can be played practically all year round makes the country a true haven for golfers.

So whether it's amidst lush tropical rainforests, the cool misty highlands, sprawling fairways along sun-drenched beaches or in the very heart of one of Asia's most vibrant cities, Kuala Lumpur, the sheer number of golf course to choose from can often be both intimidating as well as a great pleasure! In addition, the relative proximity of large towns with superb public golf courses especially in Peninsular Malaysia and an excellent highway system make for truly memorable golfing road trips.

Golf in Malaysia has a long and distinguished history, the country being the first in the region to seriously take up the game. This is the birthplace of the Asian professional circuit, conceived out of a chance meeting of minds that saw five time Open Champion Peter Thomson suggesting the idea to Malaya's founding father and then Prime Minister, Tunku Abdul Rahman. The Tunku himself being a keen golfer and a firm believer in the value of golf diplomacy!

Thus saw the first Malaysian Open in 1962 being won by Frank Phillips of Australia, with many golfing greats coming to play on Malaysia's superb courses over the years including the likes of Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player, Seve Ballesteros, Vijay Singh, Lee Westwood, John Daly, Tiger Woods and Rory McIlroy. Since then many others have descended upon Malaysian shores to test their skills, including in the World Cup for Men and the inaugural World Cup for women in 1999 and 2000 respectively.

Malaysia also hosts the only PGA Tour event in South East Asia, the CIMB Classic, with top ranked golfers from the PGA Tour participating in a fully-sanctioned, point scoring FedEx Cup event. Other notable golf events held in Malaysia include the 110th edition of the Malaysian Amateur Open, the Merdeka Golf Tournament and the SGA Invitational as well as the Maybank Malaysian Open, the Mercedes Trophy and the EurAsia Cup and the Panasonic Open Malaysian Tournament of Champions. Malaysia also hosted the World Amateur Golfers Championships, the 2017 SEA Games, the MWTGA Golf Championship, the Professional Golf of Malaysia Tour and the Sime Darby LPGA Malaysia among many other prestigious international golfing events.

The global pandemic of 2020 – 2021 brought a brief halt in major global events including golf tournaments but this has since changed with the holding of the MBAM Annual Golf Tournament at the Kota Permai Golf & Country Club, the Perodua National Amateur Golf Series at the Royal Perak Golf Club and the Maybank Asian/European Tournament, the Maybank Championships for the LPGA, the Professional Golf of Malaysia Tour from March to November of 2023 and culminating in the Toyota Championship with a purse of RM3,500,000.00 or approximately USD750,000.00, also in 2023.

A large number of more localised tournaments are also held throughout the country and players would be well advised to make sure that their golfing trips do not coincide with these.

One of the most exciting things about playing golf in Malaysia for visitors from around the world must be the knowledge that many of the golf courses are the very same turf played on by their golfing heroes and heroines. Indeed it is possible for the keen golfer to travel the country to play on specifically designed courses, or made famous by former and current golf champions and tournaments. This is possible given the very excellent inland transport system or self driving along the arterial highways throughout Malaysia. In addition, a highly developed air transport system connects every major town as well as with the eastern states of Sabah and Sarawak where idyllic destinations in breathtaking surroundings await, including in one of the worlds oldest virgin rainforests.

Well over 200 golf courses, each with its own characteristics and environments and catering to both professional and enthusiastic amateurs are available for those determined to test their golfing skills against the most challenging courses, or to simply enjoy a calm and refreshing game of just playing ones best, regardless of the outcome. Nowhere else in the region is there such a choice of playing in different and friendly surroundings and on such quality courses.

Visitors will also experience Malaysia's traditional warm hospitality, and the opportunity to take in the sights, sounds and vibrancy of a multi-racial country where a blend of Asia's oldest civilizations with Malay, Chinese, Indian and Indigenous communities coming together to make up a truly unique nation. And for those less inclined to, or simply needing to take a break from golf, other attractions include spa treatments, fishing, snorkelling, jungle trekking and of course, Malaysia's other favourite pastime, shopping. International golfers to Malaysia will also find themselves presented with a wide range of very affordable luxury accommodation, and global and local cuisine to suit every tastebud.

For golfers with families in tow, there is a broad range of activities to fill their time, including taking golf lessons from fully qualified coaches at academies attached to many of the clubs where they are playing, thus ensuring a new generation of golfers able to continue the very splendid game of golf, and hopefully with a fondness for Malaysia.

KELAB GOLF PERKHIDMATAN AWAM

Ensnconced within the upmarket suburb of Bukit Kiara is one of Malaysia's most challenging courses, the 27-hole Government Services Golf Club or Kelab Golf Perkhidmatan Awam (KGPA). Crafted by renowned American architect Ronald Fream in 1989, the course comprises three distinct nine-hole loops, the Hill, Lake and Forest. The championship combination of the Hill and Lake measures 5,991 metres from the tips and challenge golfers with dramatic elevation changes, tree-lined Cowgrass fairways and slopey greens.

The Forest Nine measures 2,671 metres and is considered the easiest of the three but that is not to say that the course is a pushover as punishment awaits the wayward ball.

The clubhouse is designed in Roman style with comfortable amenities but as it is a government club, the establishment is alcohol-free. Walk-in golfers are most welcome and rates are extremely reasonable.

AMVERTON COVE GOLF & COUNTRY CLUB

This delightful golf course is located on Carey Island, about 45 minutes drive from Kuala Lumpur and boasts an 18-hole course, full-facility clubhouse and a 250 room hotel on a 250 acre site that used to be plantations and marshland.

Crafted by Jason Winter of E&G Parslow, the Par 72 course measures just 5,875 metres but challenges golfers with its excellent use of marshy wetlands, scenic lakes, flashed-up bunkering and trees in its well thought out design. Strategic placement of the tee shot is vital with water or marshland influencing play to some extent or another. CAREY ISLAND GOLF CLUB

The Carey Island Golf Club's course measures 6,689 yards from the Black tees and is a par-72 with the facility being less than one and a half hours drive from Kuala Lumpur. But arriving at one of the oldest golf courses in Malaysia is certain to fill players with both anticipation as well as a sense of nostalgia.

One of the most prominent features at the Carey Island Golf Club is its highly prominent clubhouse with a gross built-up area of over 450,000 square feet. Supposedly one of the oldest, if not the oldest, in Malaysia that is still in use, this stately white colonial building constructed in the 1920s was intentionally kept as open as possible with large windows and doors, and wide open terraces and varendahs, thus allowing breezes to easily pass through. This is complemented with high ceilings and black iron ceiling fans that keep interior temperatures at a very comfortable temperature, even on the hottest of Malaysian days.

The Carey Island Golf Club is an 18-hole course filled with challenging obstacles, rugged terrain and tricky slopes surrounded by lush green environment and don't be surprised if you encounter a number of the local residents there including both wild and domesticated birds such as eagles, peacocks and ostriches, or the occasional monkey!

KELAB GOLF DANAU, UKM

Voted best improved golf course in Malaysia in 2015 due to its challenging layout and better maintenance, golfers will find that a walk through the 18 holes of the Danau Golf Club will lead to the amazing revelation that the course is in fact designed by nature. The introduction of indigenous flora, including the ubiquitous palm and rubber trees directly from the plantations within which the course was created, have blended together to create an added aesthetic charm.

The layout consists of tree-lined rolling fairways; large, multiple choice tee boxes; huge lakes; plenty of greenside bunkers and generous greens. The course ranges from 5,217 meters (red) to 6,357 meters (blue), and was designed to accommodate players of all skill levels. Overall, however, players will find the course to be highly challenging and getting a good score here is a real accomplishment.

TEMPLER PARK COUNTRY CLUB

Templer Park Country club is one of the most spectacular courses in Malaysia and built among ancient limestone hills which are dominated by the majestic Takun Hill.

Designed by Japanese golfing legend Masashi 'Jumbo' Ozaki with the assistance of architect Kentaro Sato, the scenic course was created in harmony with the natural surroundings. Measuring 7,143 yards from the black tees, the par 72 layout requires precision as there are an abundance of water hazards and sand traps guarding the route to tricky and often elevated greens. For the record, Templer Park has hosted the Malaysian Open on several occasions.

One of the best holes is the par four 18th, which curves left around a huge lake with long hitters needing to aim for a sliver of fairway across the water leaving a short pitch to the elevated green, while the safe and long route is to follow the dogleg left fairway.

The clubhouse is one of the best in the country, offering 380,000 square feet of superb facilities including excellent Japanese and Chinese restaurants.

The golf course consists of three nines, East 1, East 2 and West 3. While it is a fair layout, the championship combination of the East 1 and East 2 nines – played 6,204 metres from the tips, is no pushover, with sculptured bunkers and grassy hollows punishing misdirection along with water on quite a number of holes. NILAI SPRINGS GOLF & COUNTRY CLUB

Nilai Springs Golf & Country Club is one of the more popular golfing destinations in Negeri Sembilan, offering a pretty 27-hole course with wide, undulating fairways. Whichever combination chosen, the course will provide an enjoyable test for all levels of golfers and is best described as a fair challenge. One of the standout holes is the par five 17th of the Island Nine, which at just 427 metres from the black tees is reachable in two – but the target is an island green, so the prudent play is a layup followed by a wedge on. AYER KEROH COUNTRY CLUB

Carved out of virgin jungle and first ready for play in 1964, the Ayer Keroh Country Club golf course has the distinction of being designed by Malaysia's 6th Deputy Prime Minister, Tun Ghafar Baba, then Chief Minister of Malacca and a golfing aficionado.

Much of the original flora and greenery surrounding the course and its design has been maintained in an effort to minimise potential negative ecological impact and today golfers share the course with a wide variety of birds, monkeys, squirrels, snakes and monitor lizards that call the jungle lining the fairways home.

The 27 hole course comprises three nines with the first and second being referred to as Tunku's Nine and Ghafar's Nine respectively. The third nine added in the mid-nineties is called the Governor's Nine. These three nines hug the Ayer Keroh Lake and provide additional challenges to the notoriously famous jungle that run alongside almost every fairway, and woe betide every wayward shot!

The 2994-metre North Course is designed to be the shortest and easiest of the trio to play. The signature hole is the par three 12th of the West Course that plays from elevated tees to a dramatic island green.

The distinctive clubhouse offers a wide range of recreational facilities and is famed for its 350 seat-capacity restaurant, which is a popular venue for weddings and other banquets.

AUSTIN HEIGHTS GOLF & HOTEL RESORT

Some golf courses require a little “insider knowledge” and Austin Heights Golf & Hotel Resort is one of those. And some golf courses play tougher the first time simply because you’re not familiar with the slopes, metres or the best angles for approaches and this is one of those. If this is your first time teeing it up at the Championship Club good course management will help significantly.

Some golf course designers believe in the philosophy of starting easy and getting progressively more difficult as the course goes along. The 1st nine holes are as good as it gets, peaceful and isolated. You can occasionally glimpse greenery and few lakes with excitement offered from the shortest par 3 at 125 metres along this stretch of holes. A fine mix of long and short holes with challenging greens.

The terrain that the Hills course is built on is truly hilly. The course was designed by Nigel B. Douglas who also designed the Willow Golf Club in Australia, Kota Permai, Seri Selangor, Lake Kenyir and Valencia in Sarawak. The greens at Hills course are difficult enough because the course is built among the hills and it’s the clubs trademark of a 3 tier green. The undulations and contouring that the Hills Course possesses make it a very challenging game indeed.

Another hole to add to the list of unique and great golf holes in the world is the 14th hole with a tree in front of the green in the middle of the fairway. A dogleg hole requiring a well struck tee shot to the fairway to avoid the ball landing right behind the tree, or hit over the tree onto a small undulating green guarded by a ravine. At 305 metres, you only have a short iron to the green, so it’s a fair shot and genuine fun.

FOREST CITY GOLF RESORT

Covering an area of approximately 2,000 acres, the Forest City Golf Resort includes 2 international standard 18-hole golf courses, a luxury hotel and low density residential buildings. Located 7 km away from Forest City, the two courses are designed by world renowned Jack Nicklaus and Liang Guo Kun.

The JN Legacy Course was jointly designed by golf legend Jack Nicklaus and his son, Jack Nicklaus II, with the par 72 course stretching 7,386 yards from the black markers and meanders through mangrove swamps bordering the Pulai River. The wide, undulating fairways and superbly-shaped greens are turfed with lush Paspalum Platinum, while sprawling waste areas, sculptured bunkers and large lakes add form and challenge to the course. In typical Nicklaus fashion, multiple tees ensure playability for all levels of golfers.

The LGK Classic course covers a distance of 7,138 yards over 69 hectares and adheres to the concept of transforming and returning to mother nature and insofar as fundamental course design practices are concerned, the LGK Classic is a breakthrough from convention. A piece of flat marsh has been ingeniously outlined and fine tuned to create a series of linked lakes that not only provide irrigation water but also increase site movement. Various mounds are carved into fairways which have become undulating, three-dimensional scenic masterpieces.

This top class golfing experience is supported by five star facilities and services including a golf pro shop, driving range and golf academy and a luxury hotel in addition to the normal facilities expected in any golf club of this standard.

ROYAL PERAK GOLF CLUB

One of the country's oldest golf courses, Royal Perak Golf Club (RPGC) has a history that dates back to the turn of the 19th century when the nine-hole Ipoh Golf Club was built at the Perak Turf Club. The club moved to its current site between Tiger Lane and Gunung Rapat in 1932.

Over the years, RPGC's par 72, 6,376-metre layout has hosted many prestigious tournaments including the Malaysian Open in 1974 and 1990. The course is built on a flat terrain but still provides an invigorating challenge with its tree-lined fairways and stunning views of the surrounding hills.

The club was converted into a proprietary entity in 2007, managed by a subsidiary of the corporate arm of the Perak state government. A new, 120,000-square foot clubhouse opened in August 2009 and the course was upgraded with all its bunkers and greens rebuilt by Australian architect Nigel Douglas.

THE ELS CLUB TELUK DATAI, LANGKAWI

Nestled between the Andaman Sea and lush mountains on Langkawi Island, the Els Club Teluk Datai was recognised as one of the best new courses in Asia.

Originally built in 1992, the jungle-lined course underwent an extensive redesign by South African legend Ernie Els and reopened for play in early 2014. The par 72, 6,760-yard layout plays into the foothills of the Mat Cincang mountain range and out to the sea, featuring five sea-fronting holes. The course has a unique feature – the total absence of bunkers as Els and his design team felt that the forest setting provides enough natural hazards.

The par-three 17th plays over a small cove and offers superb views of the Andaman Sea, as does the par-five 7th which zig-zags its way to a beachside peninsular green. Managed by upscale golf management specialists Troo Golf, it forms part of the Els Club Malaysia which includes a 54-hole course at the Desaru Coast in Johor.

Located in Tuaran about 40 minutes drive from Kota Kinabalu (KK) is the wonderfully scenic Dalit Bay GCC, certainly one of the must-play courses when in KK.

Operated by the Shangri-La Group, Dalit Bay Golf & Country Club offers a Signature 18 hole Championship Golf Course designed by award winning Australian golf course architect Ted Parslow. Wetland areas thus form the most distinctive feature of the course, bordered by the Tambalang and Mengkabong Rivers from which the two nines take their names. Water comes into play on virtually every hole, although Parslow's design allows golfers to choose lines of play that suit their ability and confidence.

The 383-metre par four 9th is indexed as the toughest hole and deservedly so, curving gently past a huge bunker on the right with water on both sides. Even after a good drive, most will need a long iron or a hybrid to reach the large, undulating green. The signature hole, the par three 11th, plays 169 metres across the mouth of the Tambalang River

TAMBUNAN GOLF CLUB

Tambunan Golf Club is an 18-hole golf course that can be accessed either from Kota Kinabalu or from the town of Ranau. The roads leading from Ranau are narrow and filled with potholes but do offer splendid views of Mount Kinabalu, whereas the hour-plus drive from Kota Kinabalu along the Crocker Range has better roads.

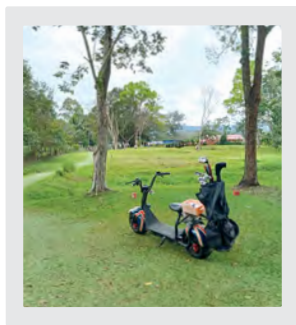

The club was formed in 1991 with the first nine completed in 1995, followed by the second nine in 2006.

Located in a small village famous for its paddy fields, Tambunan has a flat, open layout with great views of the southern side of Mount Kinabalu. The course is maintained rather well all year round and golf here is an enjoyable experience.

The first nine is quite challenging, while the second nine has loads of out of bounds (OB) areas. The elevated greens feature undulating surfaces, which make putting a challenging task. Water comes into play at many holes and short hitters may have trouble clearing some of the ponds.

KELAB GOLF SARAWAK

Kelab Golf Sarawak, fondly known as 'KGS' among the local community is located approximately 8 km from the city centre of Sarawak's capital, Kuching. KGS began operations in 1985 with the opening of its first 18, Matang / Santubong, and in 1989 added the second 18, Siol / Demak, to make KGS the first 36-hole golf club in the Land of Hornbills.

The clubhouse is quite distinctive with its highly unusual architecture bearing a resemblance of an outstanding pyramid from the ancient Land of the Pharaohs. This majestic clubhouse also serves to separate the two golfing locations. To the south is the Matang / Santubong 18; and to the north is the Siol / Demak 18.

The golf courses are built on an area of about 437 acres of pristine forest land where the Siol Kanan stream, a tidal creek tributary of the Santubong River resides. A good part of the natural surrounding is preserved during the build-up; hence it is a common sight around the courses to see big matured trees lining the fairways and the natural water hazards guarding the greens. Both are championship courses with natural scenic setting.

The long and undulating Matang/Santubong course was closed for major upgrading in 2002. The 'new' Nigel Douglas-designed Matang/Santubong now plays a total distance of 6,394 metres from the black tees with strategically placed hazards to test golfers' course management skills. The Siol/Demak course is slightly shorter, demanding accuracy with the many water hazards surrounding the fairways and greens. Buggys are available at this outstanding course.

There are a number of post-golf activities to participate in as well including a pro shop, and swimming pool and a variety of racquet games such as squash, tennis and badminton as well as a driving range to practice those long drives.

Food & Beverage includes the Golfer Terrace/Pavillion and the Golfer's Lounge.
